Gifts From Retro To Metro

A trio of cool ideas make great gifts, especially for family and friends who may have moved away and miss what makes Philly, Philly. The original Champ Cherry, Vanilla Cream and Spicy Root Beer that were part of the experience at Levis' hot dogs are available; champcherry.com

RetroPhilly is a new retro and metro online-based boutique from the creative minds of B4 Apparel, paying homage to the authentic relics of the Philadelphia region from the Jazz Age through the mid-20th century with T-shirts, music, prints, posters and more including the book, Philadelphia Jewish Life: 1940-2000 by Murray Friedman (Temple University Press); or call 610-668-0893.

Need to send a Tastykake? Campo's, the Philadelphia gourmet sandwich shop, has begun a national shipping program so you can send your loved all the Philadelphia favorites including authentic hoagies, pretzels and even a vegetarian cheesesteak made with vegan beef from Vegadelphia Foods; camposdeli.com or call 215-923-1000.

And if "in with the new" is more to your liking, head over to The Main Line Art Center's Holiday Fine Craft Sale from December 1-12 for unique jewelry, ceramics, glass, handmilled soaps, scarves and more all handcrafted by artists from the region. At 746 Panmure Road, Haverford, PA, 610-525-0272, mainlineart.org

Maccabi Updates

The USA Open Men's Soccer Team will represent the USA at the Maccabi Australia International Games in Sydney, Australia from December 26 through January 2, 2011. The athletes, coach and manager come from New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Florida, Alabama, Texas and California, and seven of the athletes also compete at the collegiate level. Coach Preston Goldfarb is the Head Men's Soccer Coach at Birmingham Southern College (BSC), where he is in his 28th season. He was the Head Coach for the USA Juniors Boys' Soccer Team at the 18th World Maccabiah Games in Israel in 2009 and the Team finished the tournament with an undefeated record in pool play. His daughter Aly Goldfarb is team manager and an alumna of the 18th World Maccabiah Games as a Track & Field athlete with multiple medals and was BSC Athlete of the Year for the 2009-10 season.

The roster includes Phillip Chermak of Weston, FL; Brian Cohen of Houston, TX; UC Riverside keeper Nicholas Goldreich of Riverside, CA; California University of Pennsylvania defender Adam Green of Hatboro, PA; Craig Hersh of Pearland, TX; Assistant Coach for the University of Texas at Dallas Men's Soccer Team Jason Hirsch of Dallas, TX; Lafayette University defender Justin Kamine of Oldwick, NJ; Amherst College defender Samuel Kaplan of Brunswick, NJ; Oberlin College keeper Zachary Lipshultz of Miami, FL; Yale forward Charles Paris of Venice, CA; Michael Pourat of Encino, CA; Noah Rothstein of Beverly Hills, CA; Jacob Sklar of San Francisco, CA; Steven Tenenzapf of Princeton Junction, NJ; and Cornell University forward Jeffery Zimering of Basking Ridge, NJ.

And here at home, the 2011 JCC Maccabi Games are coming to Philly, and the Kaiserman Jewish Community Center in Wynnewood will be hosting them for the second time, welcoming over 1000 visiting and 250 local Jewish athletes, ages 13-16, for the weeklong international sporting event held each year in North America. The experience includes opening ceremonies, intense competitions, community service mitzvah projects and fun evening events. Team Philadelphia, a part of the games since their inception in 1984, is always one of the largest delegations, comprised of athletes from all over the Philadelphia area and its suburbs.

Philly Maccabi also hosts JCC Maccabi ArtsFest, an arts experience for Jewish teens taking place annually during the summer and designed to inspire through a dynamic combination of workshop, performance, exhibition, recognition of excellence, community service and social activities. Teens develop their individuality through artistic expression while strengthening their bonds to their Jewish heritage, community and Israel. To learn more and get involved, go to phillymaccabi.com
